Irvington N. Y. Feb. 12. 79

Dear Sir,

Coins sent back duly certified rank for returning the same do I had only sent them to you to oblige you supposing that you had a customer for them.

Once before I sent you Roman 1st br. You returned them as counterfeit.
I knew they were not, but to make sure submitted them to a New York Collector who probably knows more about Roman coins than any other man this side of the Atlantic - he said - "of course they are genuine" "It would not pay to counterfeit these coins"

The last coins sent you return because they do not conform to description. Now I have shown the Promville  $\frac{1}{2}$  &  $\frac{1}{4}$  crown <sup>2 shill.</sup> to Prof.

Anthony in New York. He said "I thought I had a good  $\frac{1}{2}$  crown, but this is much finer than mine"

If you can sell me or procure me any genuine Cornwell piece better than mine I will pay you \$ 15- for the shilling & \$ 18. for the  $\frac{1}{2}$  crown. Also \$ 10. for Commonwealth Crowns equal to mine. Everybody knows that the obverse of Corn. W. Crowns is always weak - this is one of the strongest - if not the strongest I ever saw.

The 1st bronze I suppose were too poor for your fastidious tastes Still they came from a man who enjoys some reputation even on this side of the water, and he ranked them as "très bien conservés" This man's name is Rollin and he liveth in Paris. I was disappointed because you did not declare these counterfeits —

The 1793 cent you refer to was, as I informed Mr Chapman in New York, sold shortly after sale at an advance. I understand that it has since been sold again for $100.

There are still a few of the Mer-citt coins which I purchased, unsold, but I do not suppose that you would care for such small joy as the 95  $\frac{1}{2}$  c uncir. or the 94 cent nearly proof, or even such a piece as the 1823 cent proof or 1811 very fine  $\frac{1}{2}$  cents.

Now I do not write thickly because I was vexed at your returning the pieces sent — not at all, simply to demonstrate to you that like the Cat in the fable we look at some things with a lessening lens of a glass (when we buy) and again with a magnifying (when we sell)

We are all apt to do this, and I am I suppose not except till we regard our two transactions up to this time, it seems to me that you have been rather unjust 1st in declaring as counterfeits coins genuine 2<sup>d</sup> in rejecting coins that are true to description on the score of ~~improper~~ <sup>inaccurate</sup> description!

Hoping we will do better another time, I am truly yours,

Mrs H & S Chapman

Dear Sir,
your letter of Feb 12 recd which we should have answered but for our being away at the Sea Shore (Atlantic &c) we received the 665. For which we are obliged.

The 1st bronze we proposed counterfeit when we were at Haseltine ~~before~~ were cash counterfeit & most probably came from Justus Hawley. We are certain they were & you do not mention the names of the persons who you say said they were genuine to take his own words for it. <sup>where are genuine</sup> He would not pay to counfeit these coins <sup>is</sup> ~~is not~~ that he is they are not very reliable as common coins are counterfeit & ~~this is no reason~~ why they even not counterfeit.

Just because Prof Ambrose says
"I thought I had a good 1/2 crown but this is much finer than mine" does not make them equal to the description you called it. ~~in~~ <sup>it</sup> was not up to description.

The common wealth crown was not up to description.

Genl, your card received. I of course be pleased to see you at Spring sale, though I suppose you understand that I am not interested in this, my connection with the Collection ended with completion of Cat-and am responsible for correctness of descriptions. —

Would like to notice ~~your~~ last sale, and shall undoubtedly. So of your numismatic rivals have started the report that this was not Bispean's collection — in fact gave to understand that the name was fictitious and that the majority of the coins belonged to Parmela — also that the Half eagle was the same that Mons. Fenwick has had for sale since '78? Do you authorize me to contradict these statements, or had I better say nothing about it?

Strington N.Y. March 13-80

Gent, Your letter of 11 duly received.
Mr. J W Hackett will hand you small bal. ($ 2.30) due first day you happen in his office —

As regards Bishopsm collection I have never had any <sup>idea</sup> ~~doubt~~ that your statements were untrue or anything of the sort.

My inquiries were simply directed to you with object of informing you of what was said etc. As regards the '15  $\frac{1}{2}$  Exgls. I did want to know if this was the same one formally in possession of Mons.
Fenawent, if it had not been, the number of that rare date would have been increased by one, but as it was, your statement of the number known must be accepted as correct.
I will however frankly confess to you that your manner of criticising the Steng coins was hurtful to my feelings. — Had this been your sale, and had I had with me some friends purchasers or other, I should in a polite way have introduced you to each other. Had the coins not suited me I should simply have stratched them off my order list. I do not think that I would have declaimed loudly as you did, making every body feel unpleasant, etc. At your 1st sale I was obliged to take off several of my bids, because in my opinion they were not up to the mark.

Nevertheless I bought other pieces paying very good prices for them. Did I call out to you in ridicule of your catalogue etc. & Instead of introducing me to those Phila. collectors and talking pleasantly as any well school'd misanthrope would, you began to deary the rate '96 — the 1800 dollar and seemed anxious to pick up small matters of detail as subjects of criticism.

I considered that unfair and do stile, and you must acknowledge that your behavior was not the same as it would have been had you been the seller and I the would be purchaser!

In my sale April 3<sup>d</sup> of which I shall send you catalogue when out there is a piece same as 1061 Story Sale<sup>on</sup> which you claimed to have a bid, but which was probably ~~an~~ cast — the one in my sale is in better condition and undoubtedly genuine.

(Large size Commencement)

On the rare Centennial Medals & in your last sale I had several orders. — I see by Mason's paper that they were withdrawn Are they or is one of them now for sale, and if so at what price? Set me know about this as soon as possible

Gents,

Funds at hand; $ 3.70 charged your account for coins retained; offer of $ 10. for 1804 & thankfully declined it has already gone to other party whose order arrived next to yours.

Medals & Orders, etc duly received; I am almost sorry you put yourselves to the expense of forwarding, because, after inspection, I opine that very little, if anything, can be sold by me.

The tastes of my customer are of the highest art & only superior merit receives recognition, besides most of these orders are represented in his collection. He is going out of town very shortly but I will make it a point to show him before his departure & will report immediately afterwards.

It will be worth while to bring the ivory elephant with you when you come to the P. sale.

By the way this Catal. is a great disappointment to me; if it really represents his collection (except Conn & Mass Cents) then P. was a thorough hayseed when he declined my offer of Certified cheque for $25,000. last year.

Truly Yours

Gents,

Letter written Friday had fallen behind box and was overlooked till I returned yesterday when it was mailed.

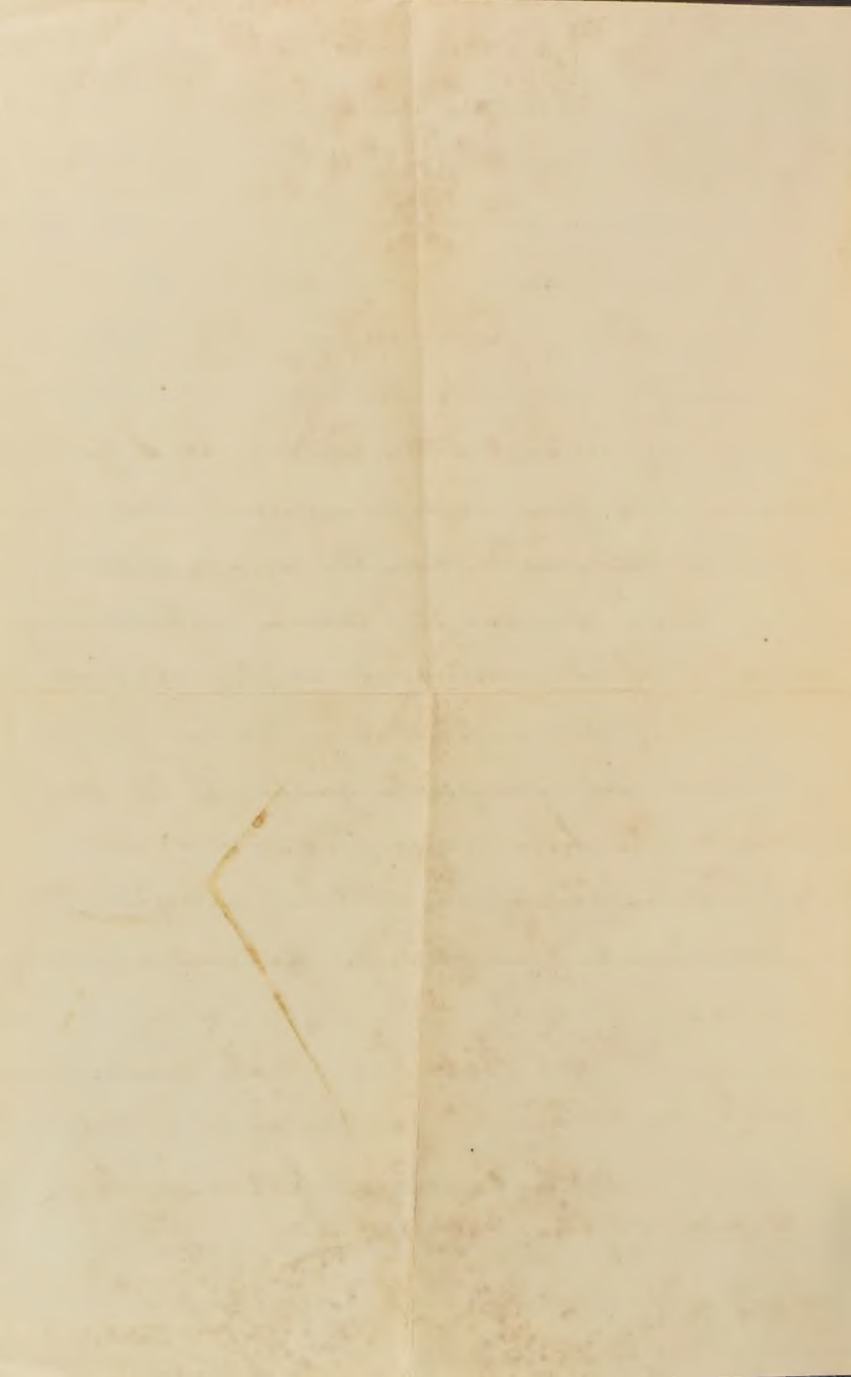

I have decided to wait until the matter of Decorations is settled before emitting so as to make one job of it.

I had interview with customer to-day, shall see him again to-morrow & think that he will be induced to purchase a few though prices are very high.

I think that the whole matter will be settled by Thursday or Friday but do not expect to sell more than a few of the cheaper ones.

Dear Sir, I entirely concur in your opinion about the disposition of Croton. I have returned home to home.

I think that his letter & remarks were entirely uncalled for - but the fellow was no doubt influen-

Genl, Yours at hand; I will communicate to customer your letter & hear what he has to say. If your $ 10. customer is still "willing" my man would probably consent to let his purchase be transferred at that price & lose the difference.

If the price was "Kings", from my point of view you would be justified to decline to take back, but if I understand your position you claim their assertions, both oral, guarantees verbal & written, etc, are always good & I certainly understand & remember you to have said that the time of sale that there was No doubt about the ~~price~~ & that if not satisfied you would take it back "anytime".

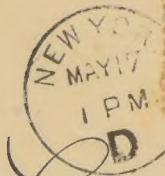

If on the other hand the price over your property, then I think there is a moral obligation to take back even at the loss of the poultry Com paid auctioneers for its sale. But I am not going to wrangle about the matter; I bought in good faith at cheapest possible figure, sold to customer, got paid in full & personally have no further interest in the matter.

I fear "Deals" & your sales will come dangerously close as to date. Could you put yours off till 25 & I will try to get mine off by 12 & 13th; the date I had fixed was 19 & 20 - or you can have 12 & 13 & I will take 19-20. Have no claims for '96 cash; I bought it but it was not on bill, hence I have no claims for rebate. Very truly Yrs

July 28, 1903.

Mr. Henry Chapman,
1348 Pine Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Sir:

I am in receipt of your letter of July 22, further in reference to your claim against one Frossard, in which you state that Mr. A. R. Frey, a clerk in the Seventh Division of this office, was a partner of Frossard.

I beg to state that Mr. Frey positively denies he is a partner of Frossard, or is carrying on his business, or that he is in any way responsible for Frossard's indebtedness to your sons' firm. The claim which has been made against Mr. Frey is, I understand, on the part of your sons who carry on the business as numismatists. Mr. Frey states that their attorney, a lawyer of this city, who, of course, is familiar with all the facts, has never made any claim against him (Frey) or stated that he was involved in the transaction in any way.

Therefore, in the absence of any proof, and in the face of his positive denial, I do not see that I can, with propriety, take any action in the matter.

Yours respectfully,

Dear Sirs:

I am sorry I have no news to report you in the Frossard matter.

As I wrote you, the attachment availed us nothing - and the Sheriff of Lancaster Co. reports that the defendant was not at Round Lake.

Several weeks ago, I personally was at Round Lake and enquired what the Sheriff had reported.

My best information at present is that Frossard is somewhere in Texas. and I am endeavoring to get his address by stratagem.

Very sincerely yours

Dear Sir:

Your favor of the 29th is recd. with

I still think we shall be able to collect. but it may take a little time. When I locate Grossman, as I surely will, I shall proceed to make it pretty warm for him.

I return herewith letter from the Collector of the Port of New York.

My entire proceeding in the Court was on the theory that the purchaser was Grossman and that Frey was an agent - and I used an affidavit made by the latter. Under the circumstances, therefore, Mr Frey can easily clear his skirts: you know I advised you that I did not consider Mr Frey legally responsible for the debt because he did not guarantee the debt in writing - which is an absolute necessity in case you want to look to the guarantor.

I may be in Philadelphia in the course of a few days when I shall take pleasure in stopping in to see you.
